EFFECTS OF TEMPERANCE IN IRELAND .- A Limerick, with a population of 30,000 inhabitants. all the breweries have been closed, except one small one, which is more than sufficient to supply the wants of the city and surrounding districts. There were formerly in this place several extensive breweries, one of which we had the pleasure of visiting. It was the largest I had over seen. and was let for a rental of £1000 per annum. It has now been stopped more than two years, and is fast going intoruins, the machinery corroding with rust, and the roof gradually falling in. While at Limerick we also went over the remains of a large distillery, which I believe was one of the most extensive in Ireland. The concern formerly paid £100,000 per annum in excise duty, and the weekly production was over 300 puncheons of whisky, which is equivalent to a return of more than £1000 per day. It has now for a considerable time been at a stand, and we hope may never again be called into activity.

RAILROAD DISASTER-TOTAL DEPRAVITY .-The cars on the railroad between Saco and Kennebunk were thrown off last evening in the wood about three miles from Saco, in consequence of a large stump having been placed upon the track. It was not seen by the engineer in season to avert the disaster. The engine was thrown off and buried in the sand. The engineer was slightly hurt. The passenger car was next the engine and contained fourteen passengers. This was also thrown off, and somewhat injured. The passengers es

After several ineffectual efforts, he took the gun and pointing it towards his stomach said he was not afraid to fire it off at himself. He pulled the trigger, and it went off, lodging its contents (five buck-shot) in his stomach. It is feared he will not survive. [Rochester Democrat, 25th.

A FFECTIONS OF THE LIVER.

EVERY INVALID SHOULD READ AND REFLECT, IF THEY DESIRE A RESTORATION TO REALTH.—I venture to affirm.
says an eminent writer, that the grand source of health and lisease is connected with the natural or disordered function of the liver, and that every chronic or lingering illness arises from some defect here. Chronic Hepatitis the most frequent form of the disease in this country, is slow in its progressive strength. The organ of attack will be for years utlering under its undermining influence, and yet no real disease will indicate to the nationt the alarming state under disease will indicate to the patient the atarming state under which he is laboring; any transient indisposition he imputes to a different cause; never suspecting that the liver being affected is the latent source of these disturbed sensations; thus misted, it is not in his power to take the necessary precaution to guard against this fasidious enemy to his repose. The symptoms of this disease are often slight and felt for a considerable time, such as fulness after meals, accompanied by convession, a feeling of vacciny at the nit of the stomach. by oppression, a feeling of vacuity at the pit of the stomach, the mind becomes irritable, memory defective, incapacity for mental exertion prevails, the appetite becomes variable, tongue furred, mouth claiminy, taste vitiated, slight noise, causes a start, sleep disturbed with frightful dreams, occaonally an obtuse pain in the right side, extending to the tor of the shoulder, cramp or spasm is often experienced, and nervous twitching of the muscles and aching pain of the limb, nervous or sick headache is generally caused by it. It often appears in the form of cough, asthma, &c., as a diseased state of the liver, either by sympathy or pressure, induces a derangement of the functions of the lungs and occasions these disorders. By changing the morbid state of the liver, the irritation of the lungs immediately gives way.—
The liver is indeed connected, primarily or secondarily, as cause or effect, with various diseases of the head as well as other parts of the system.

From these views, then, there can be no doubt that the disorders of the liver are of the first importance, and every effort used to remedy them should be conducted on rational principles, and by timely and efficient attention and the use of the most proper medicines, many very serious consequences may be prevent d, which too often are entailed on the constitution by procrastination.

As a remedy peculiarly adapted to the cure of liver affections, Dr. Starkweather's Hepatic Elixir has proved to be the most potent and efficacions, and every day's experience confirms more positively this assertion. It is candidly be-lieved that no preparation has ever been before the public that has met with such unexampled approbation from distinguished sources, disinterested judges, and grateful patients as this medicine, and a greater amount of has been mitigated and more cures permanently effected by it than any other medicine extant. So confident is the proprietor of its curative properties in every case, that when the medicine is used according to his directions and the patient is not satisfied or convinced, after using one bottle, that it has produced a beneficial effect, his agents are authorised to refund the money paid for it on return of the empty bottle.

WORMS IN CHILDREN.—Of all diseases to which children are expected and diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatal to them as Worms. Unfortunately, children are seldom free from them, and as they instate the symptoms of almost every other complaint, they often produce allowing effects without being suspected. Worms are not only a cause of disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate all other diseases wandering from one part of the body to another, winding than selves up into large balls and ob-structing the lowels, and frequently the threat, causing con-vulsions, and too other leath. DR. RUSH'S LEGACY.—That celebrated physician, Dr. Benjamin Rush, could not have left a more valuable legacy to mankind than his invaluable HEALTH PILL. It is indeed a blessing to the afflicted, HEALTH PILL. It is indeed a blessing to the afflicted, giving relief in all the usual cases of sudden illness or lingering disease with which humanity is distressed or the functions of life are destroyed. It is now conceded by the most eminent of the medical inculty, that the stomach is the seat or fountain of all disease; that it is, as it were, the centre from which proceed all the evils produced by foreign or irritating causes, and which thence spread to every part of the animal system.

The proper method of cure, therefore, is to attack the citated in which the disease intrenches itself; and no combination of medical agents has yet been discovered so efficacious for this purpose as the preparation of the late Dr. Resh, and which, from the universal success attending their nearly and proper a practice of nearly half a century, administration, during a practice of nearly half a century, were styled his " Infallible Health Pill." Their great virwere styled his "Infallible Health Pill." Their great virtue is that they arrest disease in its first approach. They are preventives as well as remedies; and we will venture to say that it taken by persons when they are first affected with symptoms of illness, many a case, that is either serious or fatal, might be avoided.

Let the afflicted without hesitation avail themselves of this invaluable legacy, and they will have reason to bless the mankind.

IMPORTANT NEWS from Providence. -JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT TRIUMPHANT!-A Card.-I give the public the following facts, that all interested may be benefited by the operation.

l am sixty-iour years of age; have been for lour years seriously afficted with the asthma, have tried several physiciass, and taken many "certain" cures of great expense and without any essential advantage. For two years I was not able to pass the whole of a night in my bed. On consulting Dr. Wadsworth, of thiscity, about my case, he advised me to take Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. This medicine operated as he told me it would do. I have taken five bottles of it, and consider myself in a manner cured by it. I can now lay comfortably all night; am free from the tightness of the lungs and weakness of the stomach, which so dreadfully distressed and reduced me. In short, life had become fairly burdensome to me—now I enjoy it, though I am not entirely free from other infirmities attendant upon old age.
